Organically Grown
in Oregon Week

Oregon Tilth and Seattle Tilth

"Prescription Produce"

The week of Sept 13-19 has been declared "Organically Grown in Oregon Week" by Governor Theodore Kulongoski to celebrate Oregon's vital organic industry and to recognize those in the industry that make it happen. A tradition since 1988, this year is no different with a line-up of educational and family-friendly activities. Find out more...

Oregon Tilth, in partnership with Seattle Tilth, is offering an intensive multi-session program teaching organic methods in vegetable gardening. The series begins on September 9th and will incorporate curriculum that combines scientific and practical approaches, as well as participants digging in and getting their hands dirty! Learn more about the series and Seattle Tilth.

Some doctors in Massachusetts are taking a new approach to fight the childhood obesity epidemic by "prescribing" fruits and veggies. It is a pilot-project targeted to low-income families with children who are obese. The idea is to get families eating more healthy by giving out coupons amounting to $1 per day for each member of the patients family to local farmer's markets. Read more...
