LEARN, GROW AND ENGAGE - TOPICS DISCUSSED AND DEMONSTRATED DURING YOUR WEEKLY COMMITMENTS MAY INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING:

Growing Good Soil

A healthy garden is built on healthy soil. Learn how to replenish and build your soil through compost, cover crops, and mulching with materials from the garden.

Bed Prep like a Pro

At Oregon Tilth we utilize several tactics for preparing our beds for planting. There's nothing like a little soil amending, forking, and double digging to ensure our veggies get the most out of the plots.

Transplanting Seed Starts

Those seedlings you started last month are aching to get into the ground – it's time to transplant into the garden with care. Discover the benefits of starting seed early and getting more out of the season

The Summer Sensation

The garden and the gardener enjoy a burst of growth this time of year. Come learn the ins and outs for organizing the summer garden. In addition to planting tomatoes, peppers, and squash, we'll talk about trellising and summer cover crops.

Hands On Harvesting

It's that time of year that all foodies dream about– spring harvest! We'll talk about getting the best flavor, texture, and nutrition out of our veggies by harvesting them at the right time.

Sowing Summer Cover Crops

Cover cropping is a great organic technique that protects garden beds from invasive weeds and returns nutrients to the soil. Learn about choosing and sowing appropriate cover crops for the season.
